I would like to submit the manuscript entitled "E-GOVERNMENT ORGANIZATIONAL GOVERNANCE, POLICY COMMUNICATION AND DIGITALIZATION OF LAND OWNERSHIP IDENTITY (NETNOGRAPHIC STUDY ON THE ISSUANCE OF ELECTRONIC LAND CERTIFICATES)" by Gatut Priyowidodo to be considered for publication as an original article in the JOURNAL OF SOUTHWEST JIAOTONG UNIVERSITY

The summarize of research findings cover three things. First, the public considers that agrarian reform is considered incomplete. This is characterized by a variety of unresolved land issues. Second, electronic land certificates which are the entrance to digital identity-based e-government governance are very risky. Third, the crucial aspect is that the government is considered unskilled in choosing the model of communication channels to the public. As a consequence, there are pros and cons to the e-certificate policy which resulted in the failure of the state's execution of the electronic land certificate rule

We believe these findings will be of interest to the readers of your journal.

We declare that this manuscript is original, has not been published before and is not currently being considered for publication elsewhere.

We know of no conflicts of interest associated with this publication, and there has been no significant financial support for this work that could have influenced its outcome.

We hope you find our manuscript suitable for publication and look forward to hearing from you in due course.

Sincerely,

Gatut Priyowidodo, Ph.D.

We add novelty to the abstracts as follows (line 5): This research applies netnography research design that is relatively new in a qualitative research that focuses on the virtual community study. Netnography has a strong and prospective contemporary relevance, especially in the world impacted by Covid-19 pandemic.

Reviewer #2: Please add 3-4 hypotheses of the study and show how they are tested in the results section.

Response: This research does not apply a hypothesis that is typical in a quantitative research, but it has a concept of applying basic assumptions. There are three basic assumptions being elaborated in this research. First, the opportunity to implement e-government in the digital era. Second, policy communication can be implemented well if the government bureaucracy is responsive and accommodative toward public interests. Third, identity digitalization can be carried out successfully if the collaboration between the government and people is based on digital needs.

Reviewer #3: Please write the source under each figure and table.

Response: Thank you very much for valuable comments. It will be added according to the inputs given by the reviewers.

Reviewer #4: Authors should develop the conclusion. The authors should specify the main limitations of the study.

Response: The limitations of the study consist of three aspects. First, netnography method is only focused on the conversation among the informants in the virtual space, so it cannot perceive the emotional aspects of the informants. Second, netnography method cannot elaborate more profoundly the social-cultural contexts of an event due to the limitation access in virtual communities. Third, the researchers can only analyze data relevant to the topics being discussed at a certain time.

Reviewer #5: Authors should explain better the academic contribution of the work developed. Highlighting what is innovative/original about the existing literature
Response: The concrete contribution of this study is to enrich the study on organization communication especially the one related to e-government in digital-based governance. Second, it enriches policy communication study by showing that every government's policy needs a strategy, goal, and choice of appropriate communication channel when it is going to be implemented.

Reviewer #6: This paper is novel because the calculation confirms the new method effectiveness evaluation novelty of the article also consists of a conducted large-scale study describing the author's theoretical and practical prerequisites.....
Response: Thank you very much for valuable comments. Netnography is a research design that is only focused so far on a qualitative research. There is a big opportunity to develop a combination between research methods and SNA (Social Network Analysis) based on big data in a large-scale study supported by various analysis applications in the future.
